A typical Flash file can be accessed by anyone, because they don't require any specific permissions. So, if you like to play Flash games online, or watch Flash movies on the web, you don't have to protect your private data with a password. The lack of a password can be a serious danger for the victims of malicious software attacks, or even for the good users of the Flash files. However, it is very difficult to crack the password of a Flash file, since it is protected by an additional wrapper, such as Flash Player. On the other hand, if you forget the passwords of some Flash files, it's very hard to find it on the Internet, because you can't copy and paste the files onto your computer. With this application, you can crack passwords of all types of Flash files. Besides, the utility can also save the cracked passwords to a file, so you can view them at any moment. 09e8f5149f
