Lite Notesbrowser is a program that is part of the popular CorelDRAW family of apps. It allows you to create notes and to manage different notes boxes, pages and categories. It's relatively easy to use and is a decent note manager. Finally, as you can see above, you can alter the width, border and background color of notes boxes, as well as the text color. You can also set the font for each individual note. The categories: As far as the categories are concerned, you can create, edit and delete them. You can also assign them to be sorted within notes boxes, allowing you to organize the notes in different categories. Furthermore, you can apply a design to each category. The design is shown below to make it easier to understand. The Notes section: The notes section looks like this: Since there's no more to say about the notes, let's move on to the tags. The Tags: The tags are what most people use to categorize notes. This is what all those notes which you are trying to keep in a separate box will end up in. You can create tags, assign them to notes and edit them. After assigning a name, you can assign it to any note. A note can belong to more than one tag. You can also hide or un-hide a tag. Any note can be assigned to multiple tags. So if you create a note with the following tags, Blue, Green,
