This free program is still a work in progress, but I am willing to give it another chance after being burned by the previous version and not being able to download any of the upgrades to it. I will give it a try over a month. I started using LR 5.2 Developer version, which was great. I do see some issues. It takes long time to fill the photomerge popup with the pictures I want to choose, which can take nearly 30 seconds. Therefore, there's a severe bottleneck to my workflow. Also - I can't make a snapshot - I always get back to seeing the same preview just before I hit 'save'. Lastly - the swatches are gone. But I really love the new look & feel of this version. The work flow has improved - even if I have to wait 30 seconds longer to do my editing & chopping. Hi, I'm a few months into using Lightroom 5, I brought it with no problems, it was actually very good, then I wanted to go onto CC originally and I had problems with the Library because it was telling me I had no plugins or something like that and even though that had been eliminated from 5, I couldn't seem to find it. I decided to contact support and asked for an in-person help session and they told me they would ring me back when they had the time and they did but I never heard from them again. I can only use CC if I manually import the jpgs into my export library, which would be nice if there was a way to do this automatically. Every jpeg I import is copied! This is a big problem if I do a photomerge and have totally different jpgs on different pages. When exporting a swatch, I have to manually go through and copy the image to the same folder. Flawless!
